Art Unit: 2862

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mian in view of Frees.

Mian discloses a method of testing a magnetic head to be used in a disk drive. Mian fails to disclose directing a flow of helium across to head during testing.

Frees teaches directing a flow of helium gas across a magnetic head while writing servo information on a disk for the purpose of achieving accurate writing.

It would have been obvious to use helium gas as claimed with the method of Mian in view of the teaching of Frees. The use of a shroud and manifold and their specific ~~structured~~ details are considered obvious design considerations well within the capabilities of one skilled in the art.
